

Chris Klus Bio:

Chris Klus is an Ottawa-based photographer and travel writer. Chris got his start as a commercial photographer in Hamilton, abandoning photography to pursue a career in the public service and in consulting and then returning to photography upon retirement.

Chris has taken numerous courses on photography and photoshop and has taken workshops with Freeman Patterson, Andre Gallant, William McElligott and Adrien Duey.

Chris has published photos and articles in The Ottawa Citizen, Canadian Camera, Photo Life, Kanawa magazine and other publications. He was a second place winner in the CAPA 2008 Digital Competition. In 2009 he had an exhibition of his Havana images at Timothy's in Ottawa. He has images on a number of stock photography sites—Istock, Dreamstime and Fotolia.

Chris is a member of the Orleans Photo Club.

You can view Chris' images on his website: www.ckphoto.ca.